Last updated: November 26, 2017.

zztat and all of its websites, blogs, tweets are governed by the privacy policy of Fuzzy Co. Ltd, herein referred to as ("us", "we" or "our"). We operate the websites reachable at the domain name address www.zztat.net and this document is to inform you of our policies regarding the collection, use and disclosure of Personal Information we receive from the users of the Site. The document further addresses the use of Personal Information when you are running our software "zztat" on your environments.

Information Collection and Use

When you are using your websites, you may be asked to provide us with certain personally identifiable information that can be used to contact or identify you. Personally identifiable information may include, but is not limited to information such as your name or email address.

zztat.net Logging Data

Like many website operators, our hosting software collects information that your web browser sends whenever you visit a website. This data is referred to as "Log Data".

Log data may include information such as your computers IP address, browser type and version, operating system type and version. Log data is not used for any purpose other than diagnosing problems with the web sites and keeping track of a profile of users visiting our websites. We will never share such log data with third parties.

In addition, we may use third party services such as Google Analytics to provide us with geo-statistical information on our web site visitors, which consists solely of information sent by your browser automatically.

Communications

When you register for our web sites, or purchase our software product zztat, we may use your personal information to contact you with newsletters, marketing or promotional materials.

Cookies

Cookies are files with small amount of data, which may include an anonymous unique identifier. Cookies are sent to your browser from a web site and stored on your computer's hard drive.

Like many sites, we use "cookies" to collect information. You can instruct your browser to refuse all cookies or to indicate when a cookie is being sent. However, if you do not accept cookies, you may not be able to use some portions of our Site.

zztat Logging Data

While the zztat software runs on your database servers, it will collect logging data such as which zztat processes are running and the activities they perform. Such data is stored locally on your servers only and is never exported, uploaded or transmitted automatically to any other locations, including zztat's websites or servers.

When using the zztat software you have the option to enable error reporting of framework errors. This type of reporting will transmit error information via email to the developer. It will never include any operating system or database information that can be used to deduce the source of the information. This information will solely be used to correct issues in the zztat program code and will never be shared with any other party.

When you are requesting zztat technical support, our support staff may ask you to submit zztat logging data, or other information about your database and your environment. This information is maintained only as necessary to complete the work of your support task and is deleted immediately when the support contract expires or completes. Information obtained through support tickets is never shared with any third parties for any purpose. Please ensure that you do not submit unnecessary personal information along with your support ticket information. We cannot guarantee that such information is safe while being transmitted over the internet, such as by email.
